

Public Risks

Practical Considerations for Better Risk Management and Resilience of Large Cities

Topic

Our European Cities roundtable is designed to bring together a group of prominent cities and related public entities to share experiences and best practices to improve public entity risk management. The new ISO standard, ISO 31000, sets principles, a framework and processes to implement efficient risk management in organisations. This event will give each guest the opportunity to share their methodology and will enable us to jointly build a 10-point checklist to implement efficient risk management in large cities.

The output of our discussions will be set out in a report which will be sent to all participants prior to publication.
